

Introduction

James Brearley is a member of the UK Platform Group, an organisation consisting of the largest investment platform providers in the UK. The purpose of the organisation is to work together to consider regulatory developments and their impact on investors, with the aim of providing common solutions.

The main purpose of this factsheet, which each UK Platform Group member firm is making available to their clients, is to provide a common reference point, to assist investors with their ability to compare operating costs between providers.

What platforms do

Investment platforms have been designed to help you and/or your financial advisor manage your savings and investments and your financial plan.

Platforms administer your savings and investments. They provide “custody” for your cash and investments, facilitate the administration of your investments and provide reports, information and online access to these investments.

Platforms provide “tax wrappers” in which to hold your savings/investments - these are accounts such as ISAs or pensions which have their own different rules about tax and access.

Platforms manage the trading of your investments - the buying and selling of both funds and shares.

These are the three main jobs a platform does.

TAX WRAPPERS sit inside a PLATFORM.
You and / or your financial advisor may make TRANSACTIONS, buying or selling investments in these tax wrappers.

How platforms charge

Jargon in financial services can be confusing which makes it hard to compare services or to understand what you will pay. This document identifies the main components of platform charges and explains what these different charges might look like.

There are three main component parts of platform charging.

1 The Annual Platform Charge

All platforms will charge at least an annual fee for use of their services. This can be a percentage of the amount of money you have on the platform or a fixed amount. It is usually expressed as a “per annum” charge and calculated and deducted on a monthly or quarterly basis. Some of the more common names for these charges include:

Service Charge	Platform Charge	Custody Charge	Platform Management Fee	Account Fee
Annual Management Fee	Administration Fee	Ongoing Platform Fee	Portfolio Charge

At James Brearley we refer to this charge as the James Brearley Transaction Charge.

2 Charges for Tax Wrappers

Some platforms charge separately for different ‘tax wrappers’ such as pensions, ISAs or bonds. Tax wrapper charges can also be calculated as a percentage of the amount that you hold in the wrapper or as a fixed amount. Some of the more common names for these charges include:

Wrapper Charge	Portfolio Charges	Investment Wrapper Charge	Account On-going Charges
Pension or ISA Fee	Custody Charge

At James Brearley we provide an ISA wrapper for no additional charge. James Brearley are not pension administrators and so you are likely to incur a separate charge for a pension wrapper which is applied by your appointed pension provider.

3 Trading Charges

Some platforms charge separately for trading - buying and selling funds and shares for you. Trading charges can also be calculated as a percentage of the amount that you buy or sell or as a fixed amount. Some of the more common names for these charges include:

Wrapper Charge	Buy Commission	Dealing Charges	Equity Dealing Charges
Asset Transaction Charge	Funds Dealing	Stockbroker Trading Charge

At James Brearley, there are no additional dealing charges applied by us as these are covered in the annual Transaction Charge (see The Annual Platform Charge).

Understanding platform charging

How we charge

Here are other things you may need to know to understand your platform's charging structure.

Percentages or £s?

Charges may be expressed either as percentages or in pounds. For an account valued at £100,000, a charge of “£250 a year” or “0.25% per annum” are the same thing.

Tiered charges

Some Platforms may apply a “tiered” approach to charges, where the charge may depend on the value of an account or the size of a transaction. For example, a £50,000 account may attract a different charge rate than a £500,000 account. Different charge levels for different ‘tiers’ may also apply to your account. For example, a £500,000 account may be charged one rate for the first £50,000 and a different rate for the remaining £450,000. James Brearley does not operate a tiered charge approach however we may have agreed to cap your Transaction Charge with your Intermediary introducer.

Additional activity-based charges which may apply

Not every investor is the same and people have different needs at different times, which can lead to one-off costs and charges. These are mostly in relation to pensions or moving cash. Some of the more common examples that may apply to a James Brearley operated account are:

Dividend Handling Charge

Payment by CHAPS

Others applied by a pension administrator include:

Drawdown Fee

Annuity Charge

Manual Communications Charge

Phased Transactions

Dividend Re-Investment

Regular Income Drawdown

Beyond the platform- the bigger picture

This document explains how platform charging models work. For ease, we also include here other costs and charges which may apply to your account, which are administered or facilitated by the platform but are not charges kept by us.

Your financial adviser - in addition to these platform charges, you may also have agreed a charge with your financial adviser for his/her service. In some cases, your platform may be able to arrange for some or all of your adviser's charges to be paid from your platform account for ease.

This will be at your instructions and the amounts depend on what has been agreed with your adviser. This is not a fee levied by your platform -we are facilitating the collection and payment to your adviser.

Investment funds - some of the investments that you hold in your platform account may have charges of their own. For example, unit trusts and mutual funds do have such charges - but most shares don't. If there are charges associated with the investments you hold, they will be deducted from the value of your investment to pay the investment provider. This is not a charge by the platform.

Please ask your financial advisor if you would like clarification on what charges apply to your account.
